INTRODUCTION

This data listing report was prepared by the West Virginia State Census Data Center to make available the 1980 census data contained on Summary Tape File 1A (STF 1A). The information presented on the following pages displays the general population and housing characteristics found on the first 1980 Census Summary Tape. As of the present time, most of the tables shown in this report are available only in machine-readable format. The Census Bureau is expected to release similar information in printed form in late 1982.

This publication contains eighteen tables providing more than 200 data items for four different geographic levels. The first section presents information for the State as a whole and for each of the 55 counties. The second section covers the minor civil divisions (MCDs) in the State. The same data tabulations found in Section 1 are presented in Section 2 for the MCDs in each county. Some counties have changed minor civil division boundaries and comparison between the 1970 and 1980 censuses will not always be possible. In 1970, the State had 353 MCDs; while in 1980, there were only 310. The third section presents data for all 273 incorporated and census designated places in West Virginia. The places are arranged in alphabetical sequence. Census designated places are unincorporated places and are identified in the tables by the notation %CDP<. These areas, which were defined by the Census Bureau, simply represent densely settled population areas.

The data shown in this listing are complete-count or 100 percent data rather than sample data. Some of the tabulations provided included 1970/1980 population and housing percent changes, age/sex and age/race population distributions, median age, marital status, total families, total households, number of housing units, housing units by tenure and plumbing facilities, dollar value of owner-occupied housing units, and monthly contract rent of renter-occupied housing units. Suppressed data are designated by a '.'. Users should note that the Bureau suppresses data to maintain the confidentiality promised respondents and required by law. These data are never made public.

Users should also be aware that the value distribution of owner-occupied noncondominium housing units is restricted to specific kinds of units. The following units are excluded from the value tabulations found on pages 22, 109-113, and 188-191:

A. Units at an address with two or more units.

B. Units on ten or more acres.

C. Units with a commercial establishment or medical office on the property.

D. Mobile homes or trailers.

The Bureau tabulated contract rent for all "renter-occupied" units except one-family houses on property of ten or more acres.

This report is designed to facilitate comparisons among different geographic areas. The user should be able to select the specific variables needed and scan down the page for easy comparative analysis of various geographic areas.

Definitions of the variables shown in the tables can be found in the 1980 Census Glossary (to be released later this year) or in the Summary Tape File 1 Technical Documentation. Copies of the technical documentation can be purchased from the Office of Health Services Research or from Data User Services Division, Data Access and Use Staff, Bureau of the Census, Washington D.C. 20233.

Persons requiring more data on specific geographic regions within West Virginia might find the Data Center profiles useful. Like the data listing report, the profiles display information contained on Summary Tape File 1. The data are presented in tabular format rather than the columnar scheme used in the listing book. In addition to actual Census counts, the profiles display percents and cumulative percents.

The Office of Health Services Research created three sets of profile tables displaying 1980 population, housing, and family characteristics. These tables present a wide variety of census information for a specific geographic area. The tables can be produced for geographic levels ranging from the State to the enumeration district and block levels. Users can obtain profiles for a single area or aggregate profiles for a combination of areas. Persons interested in the profiles should contact:
